

Mumbai hosted the first-ever powerboat race in India – the Nexa P1 Powerboat Indian Grand Prix of the Seas – from March 3-5, 2017. Sir H. N. Reliance Foundation Hospital and Research Centre was the Official Health Partner of the event.

The three-day extravaganza featured six teams comprising the best SuperStock racers from the world over. Mumbaikars thronged the Marine Drive and Girgaum Chowpatty to watch and cheer the Panther powerboats skimming the waves of the Arabian Sea – their bows rearing, and foam trailing in wake – along the majestic arch of the Queen’s Necklace.

The Reliance Foundation Hospital was there – both in land and sea. It had set up a ‘Medical Station’ at the Chowpatty. Also, medics from the hospital were out in the sea, along with the rescue staff, ready to take on any emergency.
